Under Two Administrations. The official records of the Post Office Department show that during the first three months of the present administration ended June 3 the total number of fourth-class postmasters appointed was 6,537, of which 4,672 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and death and 1,865 by removals. During the cortion the total number appointed was 8,226, or 1,686 more than were appointed during the last three months. Of these 2,659 were to fill vacancies caused by resignations and death and 5,567 by removals. As may be seen, Congress provided for the employment during the fiscal year, beginning July 1, for a decreased number of clerks in each class. As there is no money to pay for the number now employed, discharges will be made The interesting question that has been agitating since the appropriation bill became a law is, "Who is to go?" It is needless to say that among the clerks there is quite a wide diversity of opinion, and the uncertainty, in view of the fact that their opinion will not have much weight, has caused a species of nervous prostration that is quite the fashionable complaint just now

Reviewing the Troubles. Secretary Hoke Smith has received from In the recent troubles between the Jones and Locke factions of the Choctaw nation. The report is a minute and an intelligent recital of the causes which led to the hostilities between the Choctaw militia and the Locke party, and shows that in a measure both parties were to blame, but at the same time much of the difficulty arose from a misunderstanding and an erroneous conception of the purposes of each other. The report is accompanied by voluminous testimony taken during the course of the investigation. The course pursued by Inspector Faison meets with the entire approval of Secre-

> THE ARGENTINE CABINET. Little Known Here of the Political Crisis Buenos Ayres.

The legation of the Argentine Republic this city is without information regarding the cabinet crisis in that country save what is given in the news dispatches from Buenos Ayres. Senor Carranza, charge d'affaires, is not well, being confined to the house by a slight indisposition, and was not able to submit to an interview today. A gentleman well posted in South American affairs, however, told the reporter that the probable reason for the resignation of the old cabinet was dissension among the members over internal affairs. An insurrection of some considerable dimensions has prevailed for weeks in the provdimensions has prevailed for weeks in the provinces of Cerrientes and Entre Rios, which one member of the cabinet, if not more, supported. There had been serious fighting between the government troops and insurgents until about a month ago, the gentleman said, since which time he had not heard of any conflicts. What the status of the insurrection was now he could not, therefore, say, but was inclined to believe that it had been supported by the troop of the trouble had come. The resolutions indorse the republican napressed and that out of the trouble had come. was inclined to believe that it had been sup-pressed, and that out of the trouble had come the necessity of choosing a new cabinet. The financial reverses of several years ago, he stated, had, in his opinion, nothing to do with the change. The country had now messurably recovered from the effects of the depression which led, primarily, to the failure of the great firm of Baring Bros., London.

It was only last week that Secretary Gresham received a dispatch from him accepting the appointment and saying that he had qualified. While it is understood that he does not expect to serve as minister throughout the entire term of this administration, it is only reasonable to suppose that he will retain his office until he has completed the diplomatic duty entrusted to him. It is also likely that he would not have accepted the office maintain the good times which were enjoyed The only plausible excuse for his resignation would be that something has recently occurred in Hawaii to displease him. ued, "that the government should buy wheat, iron or any other commodity and store it away. If the present policy is continued the silver in the treasury vaults will after awhile have little to the government than so much pig iron.

"It also seems to be the judgment of leading financiers that bonds should be issued to keep up the gold reserve and to meet the foreign demand for gold and that no doubt would solve the problem for a time. I think however, that Secretary Carlisle should decline to make any further purchases of silver, on the ground that the Sherman law is unconstitutional."
